

ADB Establishes Climate Change Knowledge Hub

The Asian Development Bank is partnering with Beijing's Tsinghua University to establish a regional knowledge hub in China on climate change. "We at ADB recognise the threat to the world posed by climate change and are working with our developing member countries to reduce greenhouse gas emissions and identify new approaches to energy efficiency and renewable energy, through both financial assistance and knowledge dissemination," says ADB Director General Bindu Lohani. The knowledge hub is the fourth to be set up with backing from ADB's regional grant.

[Source esaa news]