Background Information

ASPA plans to purchase and install a commercial proven small scale waste oil to diesel fuel distillation plant to convert approximately 240,000 gals of used waste oil that are collected on a yearly basis to diesel fuel.

American Samoa faces a daunting task to remove/reduce waste oil from vehicles, power plants, industries and from shipping vessels that dump their waste oil in American Samoa. The distillation plant will be sized to process 240,000 gallons or 912 tons of waste oil annually to usable diesel fuel for diesel power generation.

The two distillation plants are expected to produce approximately 216,000 gallons of diesel fuel at 90% conversion efficiency. The diesel fuel will be used at the ASPA power plants to generate 3,240,000 kWh of electrical energy annually. The ASPA diesel generating engines combust at an efficiency of 15 kWh per gallon. ASPA will be responsible for the construction of a Pre Engineered Building (PEB) that will house the distillation plants. The installation of the distillation plant and associated equipment will be the responsibility of the Offeror. To reduce installation costs the Offeror will need to provide engineers to supervise the installation while ASPA will provide the local workforce for the installation.

The Project Goals are as follows:

- Purchase two by 5 ton diesel distillation plant through a Request for Quotation. The proposed plants must be commercially available and are in operation in many countries. The plant's footprint shall include storage tanks for both waste and processed oils.
- Purchase a Pre Engineered Building (PEB) through a Request for Quotation.
- The PEB engineering and construction design will be done by ASPA engineers and construction work will be done by ASPA construction crew.
- The Commercial Operation Date (COD) for plant operation should be within one year of award of contract.
- The distillation plant is estimated to process 240,000 gallons of waste oil annually. Produce 216,000 gallons of diesel fuel and 3,240,000 kWh of energy will be generated per year.
- Employ ten people to run the plant.
- The Plant operation is projected to be self-sustaining financially.

The complete description of required deliverables is listed in Attachment B.
